

Snake in the jungle

Form of organisation: groups of 5 to 8

Materials: blindfold or something to blindfold the eyes, different materials or nature

Description of the game:

Small groups consisting of 5-8 persons are created who stand in line to form a snake and each hold the front person on the shoulder. All close eyes. Only the snakehead, the first person, still has his eyes open and must lead the snake through the space and above and below obstacles. Such obstacles may be already existing furniture, but also items that have been specially prepared for the game. After a few minutes the "snake head" may be switched and another person may lead the snake through the "jungle".

The more people that play along, the longer and more fun the action will become!!!!
